TWO SEASONS OF TELEVISION FROM ONE SEASON OF BASKETBALL

8–10 episodes · two drops · one continuous story

PART ONE — THE BUILD

4–6 EPISODES · RELEASED OCTOBER, BEFORE THE FIRST GAME

The assembly. A celebrity alumnus returns to a program that has not mattered in twenty years and is handed a top-ten budget. An NBA scout hunts the portal for players the system overlooked. Coaches, families, agents, money.

Ends on the roster being finished — and the first game unplayed.

PART TWO — THE SEASON

4–6 EPISODES · RELEASED MARCH, INTO THE TOURNAMENT

What the money bought. Chemistry, injury, pressure, and a campus that has never carried expectation before.

Ends in March — on a result nobody involved can script.

Why the split works. Part One turns the audience into stakeholders before the outcome exists. They watch the season in real time having already chosen a side — so the show builds its own live audience for the games.

THE COLD OPEN

MINUTE ONE

March 2008. Davidson, a 10-seed, beats Gonzaga, Georgetown and Wisconsin. Stephen Curry, 20 years old, outscores entire teams. One basket from the Final Four.

MINUTE THREE

The same gym, empty. Seventeen seasons. No tournament wins. A coach explaining that his best player left in April for a school that offered $800,000.

MINUTE FIVE

Curry walks back into that gym — and this time he has a checkbook.

“Everybody loves a Cinderella. Nobody noticed that we killed her.”

The tournament’s best story has been quietly defunded. This is the first attempt to buy it back.

WE CONTROL THE ROOM

THE SCHOOL	Signed LOI and exclusivity with Davidson. Campus, locker room, film sessions, admissions, faculty, the town.
THE LEAD	Stephen Curry — verbally committed, and Assistant GM at Davidson. The athletic director, the head coach and Curry are former teammates.
THE FRONT OFFICE	We are the front office. Roster construction, agent calls and NIL negotiations happen inside our entity — the cameras are already in the room where the decisions get made.
THE PLAYERS	Participation is contracted at signing. Access is a term of the deal, not a favour asked later.
THE MONEY	Open books. The fan platform publishes roster spend in real time. No sports documentary has ever had this.

Last Chance U* had to ask permission to film. We own the building.

WHO’S MAKING IT

PRODUCTION	[BOARDWALK PICTURES] Last Chance U · Cheer · Chef’s Table
SHOWRUNNER	[TBD]
EXEC PRODUCERS	Stephen Curry · Norman de Silva · Sunjay Mathews
NORMAN DE SILVA	NBA scout — Celtics, Spurs, Rockets, 76ers. Coached in China (Foshan — subject of an Amazon documentary), Japan and Spain. The on-screen evaluator, and the person who actually builds the roster.
SUNJAY MATHEWS	Sports media executive — FanDuel, DAZN.

⚠ DO NOT PRESENT THIS SLIDE WITH TBDs. If the producer is not attached, cut the slide and handle it verbally. Netflix buys from producers with a track record.

WHO SHOWS UP

Three audiences that do not normally overlap.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

68 teams, every region. March Madness is the most geographically distributed audience in American sport — and every one of those schools has an alumni base that has been told for fifteen years that it cannot compete.

THE LEAD'S AUDIENCE

Which is not a sports audience. Curry's following is global, and skews younger and more female than college basketball's.

THE UNDERDOG DOC

The Wrexham crossover — proof the format travels to people with no prior interest in the sport or the league.

The structural advantage: a franchise where every season recruits a new regional fanbase — Charlotte, then Philadelphia, then Boston — and keeps the previous one.

⚠ ADD CURRENT HOURS-VIEWED FOR QUARTERBACK / FULL SWING / STARTING 5 / WREXHAM BEFORE THE MEETING. Netflix thinks in hours viewed — speak their unit.

THIS IS NOT ONE SHOW

SEASON 1 · 2027–28
Davidson × Curry
A second school in parallel

SEASON 2 · 2028–29
Two more schools
Women’s basketball

SEASON 3 · 2029–30
New sports, new tiers
D3 reclassification · hockey · lacrosse

WHY IT COMPOUNDS

- The format is the asset, not the school. New campus, new lead, new region — same engine.
- ~300 eligible programs. The supply does not run out.
- Every season recruits a new regional audience and keeps the last one.
- An immovable annual finale. The tournament sets the date.

Welcome to Wrexham found one club. There are three hundred.

WHAT WE’RE ASKING FOR

01

SERIES ORDER — SEASON 1

Two parts, 8–10 episodes, global.

02

FIRST LOOK ON THE FRANCHISE

Right of first refusal across Seasons 2 and 3.

03

THE LIVE GAMES

Three marquee non-conference matchups built for this purpose. Davidson vs. Kansas (2008 rematch), vs. North Carolina (1969 rematch), vs. Duke (Stephen vs. Seth Curry). Dates and venues controlled by us, scheduled around the series.

What you get that is not available anywhere else: the only sports documentary where the production company is the front office — with a live-event package attached and a finale date set by the NCAA tournament.

⚠ FILL IN THE NUMBER BEFORE YOU WALK IN. Decide whether it goes on the slide or is delivered verbally, depending on where the producer conversation stands.
